Heidtman Steel welcomed to GC

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

"We can't wait to get the plant up and working," John Bates, president of Heidtman Steel, said during a groundbreaking Monday afternoon to mark the start of construction of the $7 million Heidtman Steel Products Inc. plant in the Northgate Industrial Park south of Precast Metals.

Heidtman officials were welcomed to the community by numerous officials, including U.S. Sen. Alan J. Dixon, at the groundbreaking. Dixon said he was pleased to be at the groundbreaking, but will be happier to see the dedication, when the plant begins operations.

The initial part of the plant will be completed and occupied by Christmas, Heidtman officials said. Then, about March, construction will begin on a second wing of the building, which is to include a pickling line, which should be operational by the middle of next summer.

The plant expects to hire about 35 workers initially and expand that number to around 100 when the pickling line is opened.

Hiring is being done through the Madison County Job Training Partnership Act. Residents may apply for the program at the Illinois State Employment Job Service, 7 American Village Shopping Center.

Bates noted, "We are happy to be in Granite City. We have been working on this project three and a half years. There has been a lot of hard work by our people, Illinois Power, (Alderman) Paul Bowler and others."

Construction and furnishing of the plant was made possible by municipal industrial revenue bonds of up to $10 million issued by the Granite City Council. The city is not responsible if the firm defaults on the bonds.

The company, temporarily headquartered in the Steelabrade facility, 1688 Cleveland Boulevard, will initially uncoil steel and slit it to customer specifications. Later, cleaning of steel in the pickling line will be offered.

Heidtman is expected to primarily use steel from the Granite City Steel Division of National Steel Corp. Among those welcoming them Monday was Jim Eisenbeis, vice president of administration for Granite City Steel.

Among others present for the groundbreaking were: Aldermen Everett "Cherry" Morlen, Sharon Perjak, Stephen Salich, Phillip Miller and Casmer Skubish; Madison County Board Member Vasil Eftimoff; Aaron Ridenour representing the Madison County government; Carl Mathias, service area manager for Illinois Power, developer of the industrial park; Joe Davis of the state treasurer's staff; Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler and Street Superintendent Mac Warfield; Robert Deters, Heidtman vice president; Tom Spaulding, president of the Bedford Steel Division of Heidtman; Dave Sargent, treasurer of Heidtman, and William Davis, general manager for Heidtman.

After the groundbreaking, a celebration was held at Wade Rollins' home, attended by Dixon, among others.

Fund 'diet' is continuing at pared-down schools

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Born and nurtured in 1962-63, Granite City schools' massive new cost reduction program will begin to have an impact in the 1983-84 school year opening Aug. 22-23.

There will be more than 200 fewer employees, including smaller support and administrative staffs. Students have been assigned to one high school instead of two, two junior high schools instead of three and nine elementary schools instead of 13.

Aside from disappointment over school closings, eased somewhat by the establishment of an instantly popular two-year college in the former North High School, main concern is being voiced over:

1. How large the class-size average will be this fall.
2. Why more drastic steps were not taken earlier to avoid deep debt, such as closing several schools a year or two earlier than the six June 1983 closings.

Although there was an excess number of classrooms in the early 1980s, cost cutting was occurring well before 1983:

Three grade schools were closed in 1979, the school lunch program was restructured, student fees were increased, the district became self-insured for employee benefits, and warehouse procedures were altered. Employees were reduced 24 percent over a ten-year span.

Less new equipment was bought, bus routes were revised, and energy conservation grants were obtained, partly financing new boilers that use less costly fuel.

As to the changes being made between 1982-83 and '83-84: Considering the immensity of the axe-wielding, inconvenience to the public is being kept at a minimum. Nearly all basic school services and instructional programs remain intact. Sadly, hundreds now lack jobs.

The Board of Education dealt relatively forthrightly with the dollar dilemma once it became fully aware of the vast dimensions.

Possible exceptions to "forthright" were the board's vote in December not to ease the squeeze by approving two slight tax rate hikes, and the fact that it did not react to the totality of the financial problem this spring and summer.

A board member has said, "We have to swallow an elephant (operating debt of $4 million to $5 million) before we can begin to solve the imbalance in costs and income."

A new yearly audit to be completed soon may show that debt still exceeds $4 million. Meaning: the medicine that has to be swallowed doesn't taste much more palatable now than it did before, perhaps forcing further stringent cutbacks in the future.

In their defense, board members say they did not want to add to taxpayers' burden during the deep economic employment recession here, nor was it possible to resolve in one year a deficit that had taken several years to develop.

Factors in the "red ink" flood were: enrollment declines, weakening the volume of financial aid from the state; changes in federal funding, including elimination of the milk subsidy; state abandonment of its nearly 50 percent school budget support, dropping to a level nearer 40 percent; industrial closings and layoffs; erosion of the local population base, limiting the amount of taxable economic activity; and the regular upgrading of pay schedules in recent years (officials say 87 percent of the budget relates to staffing costs).

Employees point out that their personal budgets are affected adversely by inflation, just as is the District Nine budget.

Another factor related to operational costs is public pressure not to close buildings; for example, the board backed away from closing a school after proposing to do so in 1978. A later tax referendum failed by a 2:1 margin.

When the board suggested and did close three schools, an alderman threatened at a well-attended public hearing to defeat the entire board. He was angry about the impending closing of Washington School in 1979.

Washington became a daytime college site for the next four years; two of the seven members did lose out, one later being returned to the board by voters.

The displeased alderman failed to prove that Washington was needed; in fact, after it and other schools were closed, the district still had too much capacity.

The school system operated for several years with many classrooms empty and with many others only partly full. This drew little comment from citizens, who have indicated they like the "neighborhood school" concept.

The birthrate here and nationally is down greatly compared to "baby boom" years.

In neighborhoods having many old homes, the typical family size and population density grew smaller and smaller as youngsters grew up and established their own homes in other areas of the same city or in other cities.

Cash is even sparser these days than children. For a number of postwar years, the Granite City school system was able to invest idle funds and net many thousands of dollars in interest.

Sewer deannexations to be considered

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

The Madison County Board will be asked next Wednesday to pass a resolution allowing some residents in the county sewer area to be deannexed from the district.

The Sanitary Sewers for Special Service Area No. 1 Committee agreed to the resolution Wednesday and attorney Irvin Slate Jr. said he soon would file the court petition requesting a hearing.

Deannexation has been years in coming and two residents living in the district appealed to the committee Wednesday for assistance.

Residents who live within district boundaries, but do not presently receive sewer service from the county and will not receive sewers in the future, will be able to present their cases to a judge when the hearing date is set, Slate said.

He said the hearing probably would be sometime between late September and mid-October. According to a law passed by the state legislature, 1½ per-

Area road projects

Five area road projects are among 64 projects for which the Illinois Department of Transportation has awarded contracts valued at $57.3 million. Bids were submitted during the weeks of April 29, May 27 and June 28.

S.J. Groves & Sons Co., Springfield, Ill., won one of the largest contracts, a $10,676,242 contract for 1.91 miles of grading and installing sand drains from near the Madison-St. Clair county line north to U.S. Business 40 near the west limits of Collinsville.

Other area contracts include $429,930 worth of work maintaining the motorist aid call box system along Insestates 55-70 and 270 in Madison and St. Clair Counties. Day TV Electronics, Inc., of Florissant, Mo., was the successful bidder.

KSK Construction Co., Inc., of Edwardsville was selected for a $468,840 project to construct a bridge on Wanda Road over the Cahokia Diversion Canal six-tenths of a mile north of Poag.

Co-Mac Construction Co. of East St. Louis won a $19,416 contract for bridge joint repairs to the structure carrying

Legion District, Auxiliary install

The Twenty-second District, American Legion and Auxiliary, held its installation of officers during the weekend at the Venice-Madison Post 307 hall. Dinner preceded the ceremonies, and dancing followed.

Legion district officers are: commander, Charles

Creamer, Venice-Madison Post 307; senior vice-commander, Glen Smith of Mascoutah; junior vice-commander, Gene Bradtko of Granite City; adjutant, Kenneth Hinson of Venice-Madison; finance officer, William Gallagher of Columbia; historian, Oluf Jensen of East St. Louis; chaplain, Roy Groenert of Okawville; sergeant-at-arms, Emil Hessel of Edwardsville; and service officer, Arthur Lindsey of Wood River.

Auxiliary 2nd District officers are President Audrey Krick of Wood River, First Vice-President Mary May of Belleville, Second Vice-President Norma Hillmer of Venice-Madison, Secretary Pam Mathus of Wood River, Treasurer Rose Schwarz of O'Fallon, Chaplain Judy Zimmerman of New Douglas, Historian Vickie Camden of Cahokia, Sergeant-at-Arms Priscilla Mathus of Wood River and Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms Sue Zimmerman of Alton.

Retiring commander is John Cox, of Cahokia and retiring president is Agnes Hartman of Cahokia. Special guests for the installation were Leona Best, national executive committeewoman, of Collinsville; Roy Koeneman, state vice-commander, of Steelville; Richard Whitmark, aide to Koeneman, also of Steelville; Louise Jones, 5th Division president, of Fairfield; and Kermit Holtgrewe, division commander, of Belleville.

There were 215 in attendance. Kenneth Hinson was master of ceremonies and Dorothy Hinson was chairman for the evening.

JULY STATE BALANCE LOWEST IN 30 YEARS

The available balance in general funds July 31 was $101 million, the lowest end-of-July balance in the last 20 years, Illinois Comptroller Roland W. Burris has reported. The balance was possible only because the state borrowed $150 million from the private sector under the Casual Deficits Act.

Revenues in July were $613 million, $11 million or 1.8 percent higher than last year, due in part to an increase in the individual state income tax rate and an increase in receipts from the sales tax and lottery fund. Expenditures were $624 million in July, down $62 million or 9 percent.

Ill. College to begin its 155th year

Illinois College will welcome football players and students the week of Aug. 21. An opening convocation for all students will be at 8 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 1, with regular classes beginning thereafter.

This will mark the 155th year for Illinois College, the state's oldest institution of higher learning. Coach Jo Brooks has issued a call to Blueboy football players to report Aug. 24, when college residence and dining facilities will be opened for the athletes. The season opener is at Rose Hulman, Terre Haute, Sept. 10 and the home football opener is Sept. 17 against Kalamazoo College.

Homecoming is the weekend of Oct. 6-8, with the football opponent being Monmouth College in a Midwest Conference game.

Dr. Wallace Jamison, dean of the college, said that while most new students already have pre-registered, many student may register through his office until the opening day of classes.

"I realize many students have not yet made up their minds about school," Dr. Jamison said. "Maybe they have gone to another college and might like to transfer. Perhaps finances haven't yet come together for them. We will be happy to advise and counsel any young person interested in pursuing a college education."

The orientation program for new students begins Sunday morning, Aug. 28, when residence halls open. Dr. Donald C. Mundinger, president of the college, will greet new students and their parents in Rammelkamp Chapel at 1 p.m.

That Monday will be spent with students receiving guidance in specialized programs and career discussions. On Tuesday, new students will meet with deans and faculty advisors. The day will conclude with a wiener roast at Lake Jacksonville.

Freshmen and new students will register Wednesday morning, Aug. 31; upperclassmen will register in the afternoon. A picnic supper and Dave Hudspeth outdoor concert will conclude the day's activities. Regular classes will begin Sept. 1 after the convocation for all students at 8 a.m.

HEART TEST COURSE OFFERED THIS FALL

Belleville Area College will offer a course in electrocardiography technology this fall. Knowledge and skills related to electrocardiography tests, Halter monitors and cardiopulmonary resuscitation will be covered in the class.

The three-credit-hour class will meet from 7 to 8:40 p.m. for the lecture portion; the lab, lasting two to four hours per week, will meet Thursdays at times to be arranged. Tuition is $63. Registration for Health Related Occupations will be 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday through Wednesday, Aug. 17, at the registrar's office, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

cycle slowed by payment protests and assessment hearings, and with the county fighting to invest some of the receipts for its own benefit, the school district has become a major borrower.

A change in state regulations has made tax loans much costlier, but the district nevertheless has found it necessary to borrow to the hilt against its future education taxes—and to even obtain loans two years ahead.

The 1983-84 budget was adopted last winter, a half-year early, to facilitate second-year anticipation warrants.

This recital of woes ought to be tempered with the point that extreme, destructive steps have been avoided in the belt-tightening process.

And—although the district has barely begun (rodding the road toward solvent)—it at least has located where that road is on the map.

A listing of constructive attainments might include: educational quality is still receiving primary emphasis; the school system has survived the unexpectedly tough times and hopes for better days ahead; and local control of the district's destiny has been maintained.

The latter assertion may seem overdramatic, but not to Superintendent of Schools B.J. Davis. In mid-January, he said:

"If we fail to act, the state can put us into a form of bankruptcy and assume control over our district.

"Loss of control of the district could mean that we would not have any say on which buildings operate, what courses are given, who would be included in our district, and where our children would go to school. We want to retain local control of the education of our children."

Davis added, "As students decrease, money the state gives us to operate also decreases; it becomes a vicious spiral.

"Loss of income is reflected in our enrollment drop from 14,750 in 1971 to 9,500 in 1983. In the late 1970s, state and regional authorities predicted a rosy economy and growth in Granite City to the extent that in 1983 the district would have 23,000 students.

"The number of students in high school required additional space; North High and other schools were built. The demand for space has not kept up with the space available; only 30 percent of available classrooms are being used to teach students.

"The district must borrow approximately $7.7 million to keep afloat in 1982-83 (including short-term loans while awaiting scheduled receipts). At this time (January) in 1982, we had not borrowed any money; at the present time in 1983, we have already borrowed $3,150,000.

"Sound management has kept the average Granite City cost of teaching a student below the state average, but these measures have not been enough. Now, our only alternative is to cut expenses to try and balance the budget and still keep a good rating as a district so our children can gain entrance to college.

"We must balance our budget as soon as practicable to hold our credit. We must bring expenses in line with income, and hold our borrowing to a reasonable level."

A hearing on potential cutbacks was conducted Jan. 17 and the plan, after being modified, was enacted Feb. 1. Aided by employees' and citizens' suggestions, fine-tuning has continued each month including further adjustments approved at the Aug. 2 board session.

Because the annual budget was adopted with much of the 1983-84 "crystal ball" was still clouded, major revisions are planned. A possible budget version, much more detailed than its predecessor, is due for consideration Aug. 16, with final approval in September.

Among the things that will have a profound effect on the new budget are talks currently in progress with the union locals that represent District Nine employees. Salary levels have not yet been determined.

At the time that tentative budget cuts were announced Dec. 18, the list included elimination of elementary schools' physical education, vocal music, band and learning centers; adjustment of special education services at all grade levels; and revision of the kindergarten schedule.

The board will not utilize those options but it has urged conservation of supplies and has tightened extracurricular assignments.

Along with closing a third of the remaining schools, the board reduced nearly every segment of certificated and non-certificated personnel.

A school district breakdown of the new and old staffs shows 420 teachers this fall (564 last year), 52 (59) cooks, 44 (70) custodians, 36 (54) secretaries, 30 (42) administrators, supervisors and coordinators, 18 (18) construction and maintenance staff members, eight (10) teaching assistants, six (eight) nurses and two (three) campus monitors.

During the post-World War II years, the district's boards and administrations became experienced at expanding school facilities to cope with enrollment growth. In more recent years, they have had to reverse the process.

Looking back, Davis, superintendent since 1966, recalls that the school district avoided most borrowing prior to 1977 except for construction spending and occasional cash flow problems.

Since 1977, debt to help meet operating expenses has accumulated fast. It reached $3.6 million one year ago and was described as likely to increase by $4.1 million in 1982-83 for total borrowing of $7.7 million.

The latter figure apparently was not reached; throughout the winter and spring, an effort was made to avoid purchases, trips and other costs whenever possible.

The superintendent says education authorities across the nation differ regarding optimum class size and school size. "An excellent teacher is likely to succeed despite large classes, while an ineffective instructor might fail even with a small class."

American Federation of Teachers Local 743 has been stressing this spring and summer the comments of various experts who feel that bigger classes lower students' learning.

Supt. Davis sees no immediate return to boom times here: Grade schools may add a few students after 1985 but junior high schools and the high school can expect no enrollment gains until the 1990s.

Crispy Junior High may face an uncertain future in the mid-1980s if there is further slippage in the number of students at Coolidge Junior High School and Granite City Senior High School. The high school for the time being will use a wing of nearby Coolidge, but this may not be necessary indefinitely.

The district wants to keep several surplus schools available for reopening, but has just taken steps to auction Washington, Logan, Lake, Johnson, Nameoki and Emerson. It reserves the right to reject any of these bids and would do so in some instances.

Proceeds from sale of school buildings would go to the district's treasury to meet bills, which (unlike students) are abundant.

Nameoki United plans events

The Nameoki Presbyterian Church had a record-breaking Vacation Bible School, which recently concluded. More than 100 students and staff were involved in the two-week event which was headed by Judy Hankins and the Christian Education Committee of the church.

Five youths spent a week at Mound Ridge near St. James, Mo., this summer. Those attending were Amy and Alyssa Aud, Lori and Brandi Diak, and Dorothy Partney. The Rev. and Mrs. Don Pierson were accompanied by Anne Voyles and Kathy Toussaint at the New Wilmington Missionary Conference. The conference, now in its 78th year, is on the campus of Westminster College in New Wilmington, Pa. Delegates from 30 states and 15 foreign countries attended the event. Speakers and Bible teachers, 42 missionaries, and young people from Africa, Japan, Thailand and Mexico participated in the week long conference.

The Windjammer Mariners will meet Saturday, Aug. 20, with Irma Taylor and Louise hosting the event. The following week, the "Spirit Sails," mariners for young adults will have an old-fashioned box supper Saturday, Aug. 20.

An Amtrak trip to see Abraham Lincoln's hometown will be Wednesday, Aug. 17. The junior and senior highs from the church will travel to Springfield, via railroad, to visit some of the attractions offered in the state's capital.

"This summer's series of messages is entitled, "Great Words of the Bible and Life," according to Rev. Pierson. This Sunday, "The Hardest Word" will be his theme. The worship service begins at 10:45 a.m. "Esp and Related Phenomena" will be discussed in the 9:30 p.m. coffee hour by Rev. Pierson, Sunday, Aug. 14.

It's 'junque,' not just 'junk'

Sometimes, newspapers can be as different as night and day. Sometimes, the papers can be remarkably similar.

Some of our editorial staff had lunch the other day with some Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville administrators to discuss the Week End University (Week End is, indeed, two words) and the topic turned to the $50,000 rusting piece of art being constructed outside the new Multipurpose building on the SIUE campus.

We commented that we considered an editorial opposing the use of public money for what appears to be construction left-overs being left in the entranceway and called "art," but had decided that, without masters' degrees in art, we probably weren't qualified to judge.

Apparently, we weren't alone. In Monday's issue of the Collinsville Herald, executive editor Karl Monro commented, "I wrote two columns about the $50,000 statue near the SIUE multipurpose gym, now nearing completion, and then threw them away. It seemed to be making too much of a bit of expensive trivia."

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat felt the rusty "art" worthy of the top of the front page last week.

Art is in the eye of the beholder. Some of us felt when Pablo Picasso's famous statue was erected in front of Daley Plaza in Chicago that it was a joke. The famed artist laughed all the way to the bank, we thought. Admittedly, it has since grown on some of us. It's not too bad when you think of it as an abstract of a big dog. A woman? No way!

Certainly, the Illinois Capital Development Board, which paid lock, stock and barrel, for the new SIUE sculpture, could have done better, in our opinion, with $50,000 than what it has done. SIUE chose the nearly-known Chicago artist to design and erect the piece, using CDB money.

We are sure that some talented SIUE art student could have designed an equally, if not more, attractive piece and had it constructed at half the cost, or less. We are tempted to say we could have anchored a bunch of junk outside the building for less than $50,000. Even rusted cars have a bit of beauty, if you look at them just right.

Art critics, if you disagree, let us have it. One concession. With a $50,000 price tag, we can't call it junk, we'll call it junque.

'Yes' on rezoning at Nike base

It would seem logical for Madison County to quickly resolve zoning problems associated with a proposed automobile factory utilizing the abandoned Nike missile launching base near Marine. The county badly needs new industries and the location is isolated (near Illinois 4 north of Illinois 143, reached from Interstates 55-70).

Whether or not the particular development plan now under consideration becomes a reality, it would be prudent to authorize industrial zoning for the tract.

The possibility of Mills-Glynn Inc. employing up to 150 persons at the site within a year, to build two-seat sports cars, was discussed at the July 20 meeting of the County Board. The board empowered its Buildings Committee to negotiate 15-year lease terms.

The new business wants to use existing buildings, renovating them after Sept. 1 for initial production in early 1984. It says it hopes to complete financing soon in order to utilize this county's reserve of skilled labor. Hand-crafted cars costing $20,000 would feature fiberglass bodies and U.S. parts, including eight-cylinder Ford engines.

The county government acquired the land after the Defense Department disbanded its Nike missile program, created to protect metropolitan areas from enemy attack.

Altering the present zoning designation from public use to general manufacturing would appear to be non-controversial, entirely reasonable and clearly in the public interest. The facilities have been used for storage in recent years, with the surrounding land leased for farming.

The County Board ought to approve rezoning at its earliest opportunity.

Keep the riverfront diversified

Aided by solid political clout, one family seems to be trying to take over nearly all of the St. Louis riverfront. That sounds like bad news for this metropolitan area's waterborne shipping.

Calling it part of a "never-ending quest to control more and more" of the riverfront, the Post-Dispatch notes that Eugene P. Slay's current request is for city permission to engage in barge floating at north St. Louis.

Quad-Cityans will recall successfully opposing barge storage off Chouteau Island, from where runaway barges could have caused damage. The Coast Guard has voiced concern over endangering the Gateway Arch area tourist attractions, but St. Louis aldermen voted 16-5 against linking the Slay plan to Coast Guard approval.

"Anxious to do his bidding," aldermen are seen as rushing to give him control of still another important section of the river, whether or not feeling there ever becomes a reality. The P-D comments:

"Meanwhile, Federal Barge Lines and St. Louis Ship have taken strong exception to an attempt by Mr. Slay to gain control of mooring rights they now hold. As part of a plan to lease 10 acres of vacant property and erect a $4.5 million warehouse using city revenue bonds, he is also seeking an option to take over mooring rights along the property when the current lease expires in 1993.

"He wants the rights even though he does not claim to need them for his warehouse operation, which means that the existing firms would then be at his mercy. No wonder they don't like the prospect."

"The principle at work here is plain: Mr. Slay believes it is better to control more of the riverfront than less of it. The principle that ought to govern aldermen as they take up both matters is not what he wants but what is good for the city."

"The aldermen should retain city control of the mooring lease in south St. Louis and hold up on approving the north St. Louis lease until it becomes clearer whether Mr. Slay can meet Coast Guard objections and, if not, what alternatives he has in mind for the site in question."

"I don't really fear it. Although it could be here, I feel that it was a local thing in Missouri."

John Jenkins, Granite City
"I'm sure there is some around some place. I feel there's more around that hasn't been found yet."

Mrs. Charles Kohl, Granite City
"No, I do not. I think the thing has been blown out of proportion. I don't think there is any in the urban areas."

David Nolan, Granite City
"No. The contaminated sites found thus far were due to one operator that obtained his oil from one company in Missouri. To my knowledge, that operator has not done any work here."

Commends Weber for murder case prosecution

To the Editor:

KARLA L. BROWN
Born May 10, 1956
Killed June 21, 1978

Thus was part of State's Attorney Don Wayne Weber's summation to the jury at the closing of the trial at East Alton of John Prante, who was convicted on July 16 for the murder of Karla L. Brown by strangulation or drowning.

To pick up the evasive evidence of an almost forgotten murder case that was closed without definite clues five years ago was one of the most difficult challenges that any state's attorney could ever take. But Weber picked up even after even and pieced them together in chronological order, to prosecute the man that he was convinced had snatched this young girl's life practically on the eve of her wedding and in the basement of her first home of her own. State's Attorney Weber wove these puzzle-parts together and so presented the complete picture to the jury that he secured their unanimous verdict of guilty from 12 out of 12 (never an easy assignment for the people's protector). The state's attorney also defied adversity, logically, and factually with the defense's forensic and dental experts who declared that the bite marks on Karla Brown's shoulder seemed not to be, but could be those of John Prante.

Coincidentally, only one of the newspaper reports stated that Dr. Homer Campbell of Albuquerque, N.M., forensic expert for the state declared that the bite marks were definitely those of the defendant.

Weber also had the state's burden of proving to the jury that the circumstantial evidence was strong enough to prove that the murder was committed by Prante, beyond any reasonable doubt. The state's attorney won his case neither by luck nor chance but by tenacious securing evidence from dozens of witnesses, presenting scores of evidence bags, charts, et cetera, by many midnight hours of preparation, by correlation of the help of Randy Rushing and the Illinois department of Criminal Investigation, the Wood River Police Department, and Assistant State's Attorney Keith Jensen.

There was a pin-drop silence in the courtroom, and tears in some eyes, as the state's attorney in firm but low key that showed the strain of the trial, asked the jury for a verdict of guilty.

In conclusion, the epitaph on Karla L. Brown's gravestone can now be completed with a closing line: KARLA L. BROWN

Born May 10, 1956
Killed June 21, 1978
Justice Accomplished

Monday, July 18, 1983
I say "justice," and not revenge. And I say that because State's Attorney Don Wayne Weber and his department prosecute without fear or favor, our loved ones, ourselves, our homes, our schools, our streets, our shopping centers, our cities and our county are more secure.

Judge Charles Roman had no difficulty and secured decent, proper courtroom decorum at all times, between Prosecutor Don Weber and Public Defender Neil Hawkins.

Contractor for Interstate 255 is undecided on the dirt supply

By ED GURNEY
It appears it may be some time before the contractor on the latest phase of the Interstate 255 project announces who he will buy dirt from.

S. J. Groves and Sons of Springfield has been awarded the $10.6 million contract for the latest I-255 work, according to a spokesman for the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The latest phase includes 1.01 miles of grading and sand drains for I-255 from near the Madison-St. Clair County line north to U.S. Business 40.

The firm will need an estimated 542,662 cubic yards of dirt for the project. Jess Miller of Groves said the firm may not need the dirt until next year, however.

Among those interested in providing dirt to Groves are the Collinsville Unit 10 School District and Jim Seiber. Unit 10 is hoping to gain space for new athletic fields at the Greenwood high school campus by having dirt excavated for I-255.

Seiber would sell dirt from his property north of Hollywood Heights Road in Caseyville.

Another person who expressed interest in selling dirt was Ross Gentile, a spokesman for Mrs. Oliver (Kathryn) Anderson, who owns 186 acres south of Hollywood Heights Road in Caseyville.
Gentile last month asked the Caseyville board of trustees for permission to haul dirt across O'Fallon Drive and other village streets to get to the I-255 construction site. The board took the request under advisement.

Mayor George Chance said last week he thought the question was moot. He said he was told the Anderson property was no longer under consideration for dirt.

Chance noted that the village engineer had recommended against allowing heavy trucks to use the newly reconstructed O'Fallon Drive. Engineer Les Winter said the street was not designed for that type of use.

The Caseyville board last week gave tentative approval to let Kenneth Fultz excavate dirt from AWI factory property which the village now owns and wants to turn into a park.

The excavation would create a 3- to 3½-acre fishing lake, village officials said.

The board made the approval contingent on Fultz providing proof of insurance and an agreement on how the dirt would be excavated.

Chance said the proposal will apparently only become a reality if Fultz, who owns a trucking firm, is able to provide dirt for the I-255 project. The dirt would be taken across farmers' fields to the I-255 site.

Village officials said Fultz, even before the dirt proposal was discussed, offered the village equipment to clear the AWI property.

Fultz also has discussed the possibility of providing heavy equipment to break up and bury the concrete foundation at the site.

Midcon will buy pipeline to this area

O. C. Davis, Chairman and President of Midcon Corp., announced Tuesday that Midcon has signed a definitive agreement with Union Pacific Corp. to purchase Mississippi River Transmission Corp. or $25,250,000.

Mississippi River Transmission, an interstate natural gas pipeline company headquartered near St. Louis, is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Champlin Petroleum Co., a subsidiary of New York-based Union Pacific.

The acquisition is expected to be completed shortly after the waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino Act ends.

Midcon will pay interest on the purchase price after that waiting period until the date of closing of the transaction.

Mississippi River Transmission operates 1,500 miles of main transmission line. The company purchases gas primarily from suppliers in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana and moves it to utilities, municipalities and industrial customers, principally in the St. Louis metropolitan area and Southwestern Illinois.

Midcon Corp. operates more than 12,500 miles of pipelines, bringing natural gas from producing fields in the Southwest, Gulf of Mexico and Rocky Mountain areas to 49 utility and municipal customers, chiefly in the Chicago metropolitan area.

In announcing the purchase agreement, Davis said, "This acquisition broadens Midcon's marketing base in the Midwest."

In addition to gas transmission, Midcon also is engaged in oil and gas exploration and development, contract drilling, coal mining and marketing, and other energy-related ventures.

Midcon's revenues for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1982, were $3.3 billion and net income was $132.6 million. For the year ended Dec. 31, 1982, Mississippi River Transmission's revenues were $701.4 million; net income was $29.1 million.

PIK acres can be used for livestock grazing

Governor James R. Thompson said Tuesday that U.S. Department of Agriculture officials have cleared the way for Illinois farmers to begin applying for approval to use their Payment-in-Kind (PIK) acres for livestock feeding.

"Today's announcement by the USDA will greatly help Illinois farmers during a hot, dry summer that has limited the growth of pasture vegetation for livestock," said the Governor. "I encourage any farmer in the state to take advantage of this decision, a ruling that will give farmers the ability to use PIK acres for livestock feeding nearly a month before they could have, had the state not acted," he said.

Tuesday's announcement by the USDA, coming more than three weeks before the Sept. 1 date when PIK acres could be used for grazing under the program's regulations, will enable farmers to ask county offices of the USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service for permission to use the land for grazing.

From there, approval will be needed from Washington USDA officials to use PIK acres for livestock grazing, the Governor said. The federal government will make a ruling on a county's petition to use PIK acres within a 24-hour period under this plan, he said.

Farmers given permission to use PIK acres must follow certain restrictions under the USDA ruling. Farmers must use only their own livestock on their own acreage and cannot permit grazing to the extent that it would leave farm land unprotected from wind and water erosion and weed damage.

Thompson, who requested the rule change in a July 29 letter to USDA Secretary John Block, said all Illinois counties can apply to use PIK acres.

ARREST FOLLOWS A DISTURBANCE

Called to a disturbance in the 2100 block of Lee Avenue at 2:15 a.m. Tuesday, officers alleged Ricky A. Nelson, 22, of 2164 Lee Ave., was on the ground being restrained by two women.

Upon seeing officers, Nelson ran to a neighbor's house, where he allegedly pushed another woman to the ground and was grabbed by officers.

Nelson then reportedly fell to the ground, complaining of an injury to his ribs, and an ambulance was summoned. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for examination.

Nelson was released from SEMC at 4:50 a.m. Tuesday to police custody and was charged with disorderly conduct.

GCC offers criminology courses

Students may learn more about the law enforcement field by enrolling in an administration of justice class this fall at the new Granite City Center of Belleville Area College.

Two A.O.J. courses—Criminology, and Criminal Law and Administration, will be offered this fall.

Criminology appeals to law enforcement students and officers, educators, civic leaders and concerned citizens. It investigates delinquency and crime as a social phenomenon. The course covers sociology of the law, how criminal laws develop, and the causes and control of crime and delinquency.

Criminal Law and Administration explains the elements of criminal offenses. Students study the evolution of criminal law and its application to modern law. The role of prosecutors, courts and policy officers in the administering of justice is described.

Criminology will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m., Thursdays. Criminal Law and Administration will meet from 7 to 9:45 p.m., Saturdays, Aug. 13 and 20.

Social Security cost-of-living will change in '85

Starting in 1985, the recent Social Security Amendments will change the method under which cost-of-living increases for Social Security beneficiaries will be computed.

Under the old law, increases were tied to increases in the Consumer Price Index (CPI).

Whenever the CPI monthly average for the first three months of a year exceeded the CPI monthly average for the first quarter of the previous year by at least three percent, benefits were increased to reflect that change.

Since prices rose faster than average wages, benefits increased faster than did the Social Security taxes being collected. This resulted in a serious drain on the Social Security trust funds, a spokesman said this week.

Under the new law, future increases will be computed on the basis of the smaller of two items:

- The increase in the CPI, or
- Average wages when the assets in the Social Security (OASDI) trust funds are less than a given percentage of estimated benefit payments for the year.

This percentage is 15 percent for increases payable from January 1985 through 1989, and 20 percent for increases payable January 1990 and later.

The new legislation also provides a way to help make up for any increases that were based on wage increases. When the trust fund ratio reaches 32 percent, any funds available above the 32 percent ratio will be used to provide additional benefit increases.

This provision serves to protect the trust funds without unnecessarily penalizing beneficiaries, it was explained.

NEW HEAD FOR ARTS COUNCIL

Governor James R. Thompson has named Shirley R. Madigan as chairman of the Illinois Arts Council. "I made a commitment to the council a year ago that, should the state's fiscal condition improve, I would encourage long-term funding for the arts at a level more consistent with other states and the contribution of artists in Illinois," the governor said in appointing Mrs. Madigan.

"With the signing of nearly $5.5 million in new appropriations into law, I signaled my commitment to breathe new life into the council and expand Illinois' contribution to the arts," he said.

Mrs. Madigan, 41, of Chicago, is a legal assistant with the law firm of Blum, Neinstein, Hausinger & Young and was first appointed to the council by the governor in 1977 and reappointed in 1981. As chair-

Tax problem-solving office

By IRA S. LOEB
District IRS Director

Do you have tax problems which seem unsolvable? How you can get help from a special Internal Revenue Service office.

It is called the Problem Resolution Program (PRP) office, and it gives personal attention to taxpayers when previous contacts through normal IRS channels have not helped.

The office handles problems of timing and payment misunderstandings, excessive delays in receiving refunds, and failure by the IRS to promptly answer your questions.

Last year, PRP offices handled 250,000 complaints out of more than 47 million telephone calls, walk-ins and inquiries to the IRS taxpayer service.

PRP is not a substitute for normal IRS channels and cannot be used to appeal technical decisions in an audit.

The PRP office usually takes complaints only after there has been at least one unsuccessful contact with the IRS.

The Problem Resolution Office can be reached by calling toll-free 800-824-1044 or by writing or going to an IRS office. If you write, be sure to include your return address and phone number.

Tips on being joyful parent

Parents interested in sharpening their skills and developing a joyful co-existence with their children are being invited to attend a series of "Positive Parenting" classes.

The six-week course is aimed at finding out what parenting is all about and trying out various parenting skills.

The class is being sponsored by Community Counseling Services, 2024 State St.

"Being aware of your options in child management can make the difference between merely surviving life with children as opposed to peaceful, even joyful, co-existence," a spokesman for the counseling service stated.

Those attending will be shown how to discipline children using low-key means, involving motivational and teaching methods.

Cost of the course is $18. Evening classes will be available.

Those interested in learning more about the parenting classes may contact Janice Bryan at 877-4420.

STATE PAYROLL DOWN

The summer break at state universities contributed to a decline in the size of the state payroll to 164,395 this summer, compared to 165,000 last year.

DEADLY TARGET PRACTICE

The ability of foreign governments to flood United States consumers with below-cost products results from policies known as "targeting."

Briefly, targeting works like this:

A government makes a conscious decision to promote a chosen industry by giving it preferred treatment. This may mean government ownership. It usually includes tax breaks, low-interest loans on favorable terms, outright grants, research and development assistance, import protection, and subsidies not available to other industries.

The targeted industry develops rapidly with this kind of government nourishment. Soon it has the capability to produce far more goods than its domestic market demands. At this point the subsidized industry looks for foreign markets to dump its excess production.

Because of our high standard of living, the strength of the dollar, and generous "free trade" import laws, the United States is the obvious dumping ground.

When this happens, American manufacturing industries and their workers are the victims. They become targeted for extinction. On top of that, we lose those manufacturing jobs and the industries that serve them are also forced to lay off workers.

Don't think that low wage industries are immune. The consumer electronics industry in the United States is a case in point. Though its wages were not high, that industry lost 63,000 jobs to targeting by the Japanese and other governments.

Because of international targeting, free trade in free markets has become an illusion—a myth in which only the United States government continues to believe. Our European and Asian trading partners have learned to regulate trade to protect themselves from one another's targeting practices, while promoting their own preferred industries.

The latest example of targeting is unusually dramatic. It threatens the whole American steel-making industry—and the iron and coal mines which supply it. U.S. Steel is negotiating to import 3½ million tons a year of steel slabs from the government-owned British Steel Corporation for finishing at the Fairless Works near Philadelphia.

STEEL-MAKING FURNACES which employ 3,000 workers at Fairless would be closed. Worse, competitive pressure would soon force other domestic companies to close their furnaces and import subsidized semi-finished steel from Brazil, Korea, Taiwan, Europe, or Japan. There's plenty available from the target steel industries which foreign governments have sponsored.

U.S. Steel spokesmen have announced that the company is asking British Steel for a $600 million investment, as its price for this piece of the American steel market. The British government is thus able to take dead aim at this target. No long range planning will be needed—just pay the money and ship the steel.

If the U.S. Steel-British Steel deal is ever finalized, it will violate U.S. trade laws. We will oppose it on this and other legal grounds.

But win or lose on this case, the basic problem will still exist.

America's international trade problem is international targeting.

Let's understand it... let's discuss it... let's solve it.

Unpaid utility bills expand EOC audit

By PAIGE ST. JOHN

About $150,000 worth of unpaid utility bills the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission owes a utility company — from as far back as January — has caused the state to greatly expand an ongoing audit of EOC programs.

The state Department of Commerce and Community Affairs had, until mid-July, been auditing only the EOC's weatherization program.

DCCA Office of Energy and Community Services chief Thornton Ridinger said he expanded the audit last month to include all programs using federal money funneled to the EIO through the DCCA.

"He did so after he learned there also were problems with the EOC's energy assistance program, which pays on the utility bills of disadvantaged persons."

"We received a complaint from one of the utility companies that they were not being paid in a timely manner," Ridinger said. "They had about $150,000 worth of unpaid client forms indicating (utility bill) payment would be made by the EOC. Some of them were from as far back as January and February."

Thornton said the DCCA sent the EOC funds to pay the bills in April. "The money was not used to pay those bills," he said. "In fact, the EOC and they said they were not prepared now to make that payment."

The DCCA audit will determine where the missing energy assistance funds went, but Ridinger said he suspects an unusually large amount of inter-program funds from the problem.

Funds from the energy assistance program probably were used to make payments in the home weatherization program and the community block grant program, Ridinger said.

"A certain amount of transfers normally do take place," Ridinger said. "But they are generally of a very short-term nature, and everything works out OK."

Ridinger said he did not suspect any criminal activity on the part of anyone in the EOC. "We have found no evidence of the money being used for someone's own personal benefit," he said. "In the end, the audit will demonstrate exactly what happened."

The DCCA is accounting for $1,126,173 in energy assistance funds and $297,409 in community block grant funds, along with $251,384 used to weatherize homes.

The weatherization audit began in June, after the EOC closed the program down at the request of the DCCA.

Lottery prize could total $3.75 million

If only one player matches all six winning numbers on Saturday, Aug. 13, that person will win the largest prize ever awarded in Illinois — $3.75 million. The award will be paid in 20 annual installments.

Michael J. Jones, lottery superintendent, said that for the 3rd consecutive week no player matched all six winning numbers Aug. 6. Whenever this occurs, 80 percent of the actual cash in the grand prize pool is "rolled over" and added to the following week's grand prize pool.

Jones noted the guarantee of the $3.75 million prize is only for a single winner. If more than one player match all six winning numbers, they will share the actual grand prize pool.

The lottery estimates there will be about $1.6 million in cash in the grand prize pool by Saturday night, an amount sufficient to buy an annuity that will pay a total of $3.75 million over 20 years, or $187,500 a year. However, if 10 players each match the six winning numbers, they will share the actual grand prize pool and each will collect a one-time payment of $160,000.

Jones said the lottery attempts to award players the largest possible prizes. When individual lotto players win actual cash prizes of more than $250,000, the lottery will purchase annuities for each winner so they will actually collect more than the prize if paid in one lump sum.

The latest winning numbers were 01, 24, 25, 29, 32, 40, and the alternate number 37. One player matched five of the six and the alternate number to win the alternate grand prize of $97,635. The alternate grand prize is awarded only in weeks in which there is no grand prize winner.

Second prizes of $2,119 will be collected by 94, each of whom matched five of the six winning numbers. Another 6,908 players matched four of the six winning numbers and each will win $43.

Start community service TV series

"Networking," a new weekly television program to be presented on the Community Service Cable TV Channel 22, will air its first program at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 17, it was announced this week.

The program's intent is to inform the community of different services offered through local social service agencies and explain what help is available to those in need.

Officers of the Social Service Network will present an overview of the organization and tell how local agencies share resources to better serve the Quad-City area, it was explained.

Individual agencies will be featured in the ensuing weeks, representing those working with community problems, youth, the handicapped, emergency services, the needy, recreational activities, the elderly and the unemployed.

Featured on the series will be Brenda Derby of the Metropolitan Re-Employment Project, chairman, Jack Strader of the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services, vice chairman, and Lisa Bednarek of the Children's Home and Aid Society of Illinois, secretary.

Special program for the drug dependant

Plaza Health Care, a not-for-profit health care agency specializing in the prevention and treatment of alcohol and other drug abuse, has announced a new Intensive Outpatient Program for alcohol and other drug dependent persons.

David Hutchinson, outpatient director for Plaza Health Care, said there are people in the community who are in need of intensive treatment for alcohol and other drug abuse, but are not appropriate for residential rehabilitation services.

The Intensive Outpatient Program has been designed to meet the needs of these individuals.

This program is for alcohol and other drug dependent persons who have time constraints of employment, have sole responsibility for dependent children or are financially limited.

The Intensive Outpatient Program meets 20 hours per week in the evenings for four weeks. A couples therapy group will meet once per week to discuss the impact of chemical dependency on interpersonal relationships.

There are many advantages to the Intensive Outpatient Program. Clients can continue full-time employment or other family responsibilities during the day, and participate in a highly structured intensive treatment program during the evening.

Clients are taught to incorporate the information from the program into their daily lives.

A total of $130 was stolen from two wallets at the home of Mrs. Alberta Rhymer, 1811 Second St., Madison, by a burglar who entered the apartment after removing a window screen during the weekend.

Assailant is hospitalized

The man who fired several shots last week in the home of Mrs. Katherine Treadwell, 2144 Waterman Ave., wounding her, has been hospitalized.

A technical charge of aggravated battery was filed the same day to retain Granite City police jurisdiction in the case.

The assailant was taken from the police station to St. Elizabeth Medical Center and then was transferred Saturday to Deaconess Hospital, St. Louis, for care and observation.

Mrs. Treadwell was admitted to the intensive care unit. She remains at SEMC, where her condition today is stable.

She sustained shoulder, arm and right temple wounds. A rifle was confiscated by authorities.

WOMAN INJURED ON PONTOON BOAT

Pam C. Reed, 32, of 3341 Village Lane, sustained an injury early this week, when her eastbound auto, stopped at the crosswalk light in the 2200 block of Pontoon Road, was struck in the rear by a vehicle, operated by Jeffrey A. Gray, 16, of 2585 Lynch Ave.

Mrs. Reed initially declined medical attention, but later went to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for X-rays, reports said.

High school orientation on Aug. 16

Orientation of students will be held Tuesday, Aug. 16, at Granite City Senior High School.

For those out-of-town or otherwise unable to attend the non-mandatory orientation, arrangements can be made to visit the high school some other weekday, between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m.

The schedule for next Tuesday calls for freshmen to attend from 8 to 11 a.m., and for all other students to attend from 12 noon to 2:30 p.m.

The afternoon group of sophomores, juniors and seniors will include those who formerly attended North High (now the Granite City college center), students who formerly attended South High (now GCHS) and those who have transferred from outside School District Nine.

Many of the classrooms have new numbers for 1983-84, a spokesman pointed out.

Regular school buses will begin running at 7 a.m. Aug. 16 for the prospective ninth graders and at 11:10 a.m. for those going to the afternoon orientation.

Plans for each half-day session call for a meeting in the school auditorium at 3101 Madison Ave. and then a visit to students' home rooms, where individuals' schedule cards for the fall semester will be given out.

With the start and end of abbreviated class periods broadcast throughout the building, the teenage boys and girls will "walk through" their daily routine on Tuesday, going to each scheduled classroom as the particular hour is announced.

An orientation day for all students was arranged after many students and parents suggested that it would be helpful.

Not only are two high schools being merged but many changes have occurred in the faculty and department heads.

The high school is administered by Principal Gilbert Wamsley and Assistant Principals Kenneth Spalding, Fred "Pat" Schuman and Victor Buehler.

Bob J. Davis is superintendent, Frank Kraus assistant superintendent and James Dumont administrative assistant for secondary schools.

SWC may consider GC, Lincoln simultaneously

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

The repercussions of the consolidation of Granite City's two high schools continues to reverberate throughout the area. Most of that reverberation is being felt in Metro-East high school athletics.

Just nine months ago, things in both the Gateway East and the Southwestern Conferences were rolling along without controversy. Then last Dec. 18, Granite City School District Nine announced that a consolidation of the high schools was among its budget-cutting considerations.

On Feb. 1, what many Granite Cityans feared became reality. Granite City would once again have a single high school.

That announcement sent the four-year-old Gateway East Conference into a tailspin. The loss of Granite City North, and the brimming Granite City High School, which some GEC members saw as an imbalance of power, didn't appeal much to the remaining Gateway East schools.

The Gateway East Conference, which includes Edwardsville, Cahokia and Belleville-Alhaff in addition to both Granite City high schools, appeared doomed.

"I think most (conference members) are willing to be open minded about Lincoln's application. I think most would be willing to put the thing from '72 out of their minds."

Frank Pitol
C'ville athletic director

The Illinois State High School Association enabled the GEC, by virtue of a special clause, to qualify as a conference with just five schools. Normally, IHSA guidelines require six schools to qualify as a conference.

It was about that time that Robert Middleton, principal of Alton High and then president of the Southwestern Conference, sent an invitation to Granite City to join the Southwestern Conference.

The invitation, Middleton said, was extended because "Granite City was the kind of school the Southwestern Conference would be proud to have as a member."

On Tuesday, June 7, District Nine accepted that invitation to rejoin the SWC in 1984-85.

Jerry Turner, principal of Belleville West and current Southwestern Conference president, said last week that "all that remains is the conference approval."

Turner said SWC approval was likely early next month when conference officials meet for the first time during the 1983-84 season.

The Southwestern Conference Board will also be setting on the application of membership by East St. Louis Lincoln, Turner said. Last week, it was learned that John Bailey, Jr., principal of Lincoln High School, sent an application for membership to the SWC to Middleton. That application was forwarded to Turner when he assumed the SWC's presidential duties.

The application, like the Granite City invitation, sought conference alignment during the 1984-85 academic year. Lincoln has never been associated with a conference and now seeks conference affiliation, Bailey says, to cut down on its traveling expenses. The Tigers often have to travel to Chicago, Indiana, Kentucky and Missouri or farther to compete because many area teams choose not to play them.

Lincoln's application to the SWC is not its first seeking conference affiliation. Lincoln has made numerous applications in the past to join the Gateway East Conference, but was always denied membership.

Lincoln applied to the GEC primarily because member schools more closely resembled its own enrollment, which numbered 1,467 in 1982-83. The average enrollment among GEC schools last year was 1,484.

With the fate of the Gateway East Conference uncertain, Lincoln has turned again to the SWC. Prior to its most recent SWC application, Lincoln's last application was made 11 years ago.

Unfortunately for Lincoln, in 1972, just when it appeared it might have found a home in the SWC, an ugly situation arose at a Collinsville-Lincoln basketball sectional finale. In the end, SWC members denied Lincoln admittance into the conference.

In that game, Collinsville came back to defeat highly favored Lincoln, and during the waning moments, things went berserk. Fans poured in broken windows and afterwards numerous fights broke out.

Recalling the incident, Bailey called it "unfortunate" and said he was hopeful that SWC members would not deny Lincoln's application for something which happened more than a decade ago.

When asked about Lincoln's application and Granite City's invitation, Turner was reluctant to answer at first. Finally, after pausing for a moment he began by distinguishing between Granite City's invitation to join the conference and Lincoln's application.

"First, consider the conditions," Turner said. "Granite City was invited to join the conference. To be invited, all members must agree with a prospective member. We've already agreed that Granite City would be a good addition to the conference, or we wouldn't have sent them an invitation. The situation with Lincoln is different. They've applied. Their application will have to be considered by the board," Turner said.

The sectional finale incident happened more than a decade ago, and it seems some SWC members may be willing to forego the incident, but there are new problems haunting Lincoln such as eligibility violations.

Lincoln was recently stripped of its basketball sectional championship over Collinsville for recruiting violations. Antonio Rhodes, who led the Tigers to a one-point regional victory over Collinsville was declared ineligible.

Rhodes, whose 23 points sparked the Tigers to victory, it was determined had illegally transferred to Lincoln from Cahokia.

Still there are people who think Lincoln should be admitted to the SWC. Collinsville's Frank Pitol and Granite City's Roger Smith, both athletic directors, are two.

Pitol contends that if there were closer ties with Lincoln some of the recruiting violations, for example, could be avoided.

"Maybe if they were in the conference, we could monitor their activities a little better," Pitol said referring to Lincoln's latest problems with athletic eligibility.

Pitol said without conference affiliation, there's not as much pressure on Lincoln to abide by IHSA standards as there would be if they were conference affiliated.

"I think most (conference members) are willing to be open minded about Lincoln's application. I think most would be willing to put the thing from '72 out of their minds."

"We're willing to listen to what they have to say. I'm sure there will be a lot of discussion on the issue," Pitol concluded.

Part of that discussion, Pitol believes, may include an alternate site for Lincoln's home games and perhaps a two-year probationary period.

Similarly, Smith is as sympathetic to Lincoln's cause as Pitol.

"In our dealings with Lincoln have been nothing but good," Smith said. "I know what they're going through having to travel as far as they do just to compete. I'm sympathetic with them. Their kids have always been well behaved when they've come here to compete."

St. Louis Grand Prix: A comeback for Seebold World Championships in George Winter Park Sunday

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

Only one week after Mike Seebold won the St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix powerboat race last August, he traveled to Portsmouth, Ohio, for another powerboat race.

Seebold, the National Powerboating Association champion last year and the son of World Champion and Granite City native Bill Seebold, was practicing for the meet. With his boat hidden by the spray of other drivers, another racer collided into Mike's boat and destroyed it.

The accident also nearly destroyed Mike Seebold. It sliced his right leg so severely that he needed nine pints of blood in the first hour after the accident and 15 units in all. Doctors needed two hours to stop the bleeding when the vein was severed and couldn't promise Mike he would walk again.

"We thought he was dead," Bill said of his son. "My wife fainted and I just jumped in my boat and went out to rescue Michael."

The doctors were wrong. Mike began

It was a stroke of fate which got Mike back into a speedboat. His father needed someone to break in an engine for his powerboat, and Mike took up the challenge. He took the boat on the Meramec river at George Winter Park to break in the engine.

"The leg really felt good in there, and I had a few problems," Mike Seebold said. "It felt good, and I wanted to get back into racing. I wanted to come back in St. Louis, so I decided to enter the race."

Had Mike been in pain during the break-in period, he wouldn't have signed up for the race. "It was in a lot of pain earlier this year, and I couldn't race and I could barely walk. You have to be healthy to run a powerboat. I really didn't feel too much pain, so I decided to get into the race," he said.

Mike and his father will be competing in the Formula One races again this year on the Budweiser Light Racing Team, and Bill is glad he has the chance to race against his son.

"I've been hoping all year that he would get back into racing. I know you can't try to force someone who almost walking again after three operations, and nearly a year after the near-fatal accident. Seebold will be behind the wheel of a powerboat.

Bill Seebold

Seebold will re-enter the world of powerboat racing Sunday at the St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix at George Winter Park in Fenton, Mo. He hopes to come out of the race a winner.

"I want to win, but if I don't win, I want to be in the top three. That would please me. I'm planning to win, and not just go out there to race. I'll be really pleased to place up there because I've been out so long," Mike said.

Like almost every speedboat racing. In addition to the accident in Ohio, he needed 30 stitches in his chin and couldn't walk for three weeks last July. His boat made a dead stop while doing 130 miles per hour in a race in Nebraska.

"It affects you pretty good," Mike said. "I began thinking about all the down sides of racing, and after almost dying, I was starting to think it wasn't worth it. We thought the (second) accident was uncalled for because of the way occurred. The other driver just ran over me."

Mike won't dwell on the negative aspects of the accident. He feels the accident is history, and he would rather deal with the present.

died racing to get back into racing. It had to be his own personal decision.

"I knew he was near death. His body suffered a lot of punishment, and I would be hesitant to get back into it if the same thing happened to me," Bill said.

Bill Seebold, who has won more races than any other powerboat racer, has a rough road to go to defend his title. He has won races in Stuart, Fla., and Huntington, W.V. this year.

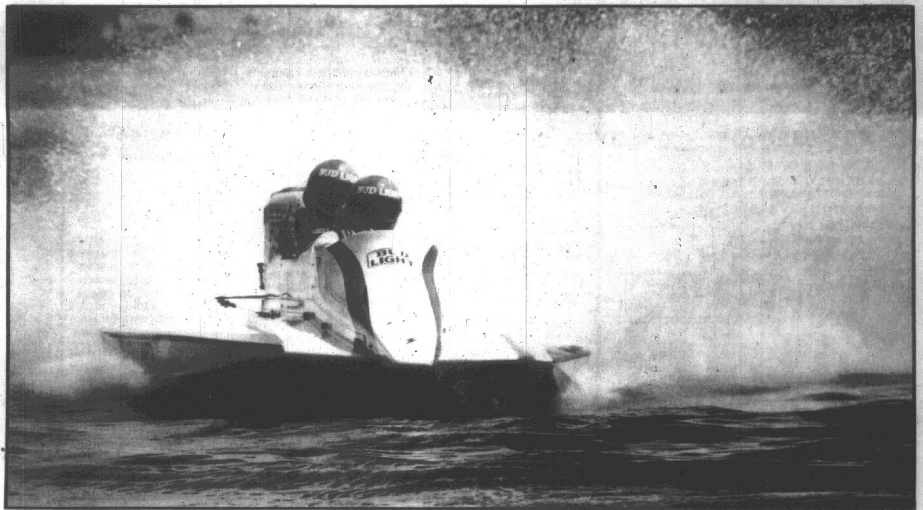

On the other hand, Bill was leading in races in Ironton, Ohio, and Little Rock, Ark., until his engine blew with four and three minutes left in the hour-long final race.

"There are 10 or 15 very capable drivers who run within a half-second of each other, and it's going to be tough to win," Bill said.

Bill would like he and his son to finish 1-2 in the finals. "It doesn't matter whether I finish first and he finishes second, or if he finishes first and I finish second. I want for us to be 1-2 in the race."

The Seebolds work out of their own speedboat company in Fenton and practice on the course where the race is held. Prior to last year when Mike won the race, neither Seebold was successful on their home track.

Not only has the older Seebold been winning races, he's been busy en-

CUTTING THE CURVE. Bill Seebold, the world champion powerboat driver and a former Granite City resident, gave members of the news media rides on a modified Formula 1 powerboat

it. It's part of my job as a racer to promote it and get the younger people racing."

Although the Seebolds have seen serious injury and death on the powerboat circuit and realize the serious danger in what they do, they eagerly point out the positive aspects of racing.

"Death is on the back of every driver's mind. They know they have to be alert for it at all times. However, there is more to racing than the accidents, and I think it should get a lot more recognition by the people than what it does," Bill said.

Meanwhile, the youngest racing Seebold, Tim, will race in the Formula 100 races. The Formula, 100 division, previously called Formula II, is the step below Formula I.

Tim hopes to advance to Formula I racing next year while continuing his wrestling career at the University of Missouri. The two activities lead to a busy schedule for Tim.

"The two conflict a little, but not too much," Tim said. "Sometimes, I have to do a lot of squeezing thought to get both things done. It's going to be up to my dad to decide if I'm ready for Formula I."

This season, Tim has finished second only once and finished fifth and sixth because of motor problems.

Powerboat racing: A little too thrilling

SPORTS EDITOR'S NOTE: Press-Record sports reporter Roger Kramer was invited to ride with Bill Seebold, a former Granite City resident and a world champion powerboat driver, during a press conference in preparation for this weekend's St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix powerboat race. His first-person reportage of that boat ride on the St. Louis riverfront Wednesday follows.

As a member of the news media and a firm believer in experiencing an event as fully as possible, I decided to take up Bill Seebold's offer.

Despite the reports of people being severely injured or killed on powerboats, I figured that Bill Seebold was a safe driver and that my chances of surviving were good.

But as my turn approached to ride the boat, my feelings turned into nervousness. I had dressed inappropriately for boarding the boat — dress shoes instead of tennis shoes. The life jacket, designed for people somewhat smaller than me, barely fit.

Then the bad news came. A fellow photographer told me it would be futile to take a camera along if I really stayed on the water. Unfortunately, Seebold wasn't able to give me an extended ride. A member of a crew had to wade into the river and carry me to shore.

"How much do you weigh?" asked the crew member while carrying me on his back.

No comment.

Despite the high speed, I stayed relatively dry. The only time that water splashed into the boat was on the final turn back towards the riverfront.

The ride was thrilling, but it's too thrilling for me. You won't find me behind the wheel of a powerboat. I'll do my driving on land. Solid land. With no fast, sharp turns. — ROGER KRAMER

The water was slightly choppy, but the trip down was really quite thrilling. I had never passed the Gateway Arch so quickly in my life.

However, it's the curves that put your nerves on edge. The G-forces multiply substantially as the boat makes the sharp U-turns quickly. I thought for sure we would turn the boat over or I would fall out.

No, the boat didn't turn over during my two rounds of the riverfront, and I

Wednesday during a news conference for the St. Louis World Championship Grand Prix Boat Races this weekend in Fenton, Mo.

Branding signs with Western Illinois

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

MACOMB — Maybe the telephones in the Branding house hold will stop ringing off the wall now. Granite City High School North's last varsity soccer goalkeeper, Rich Branding, has signed with Western Illinois University. The announcement comes following months of heavy recruitment and indecision by the former Steeler goalkeeper.

Saying he narrowed it down to two universities a month ago, Branding said the main reason he decided to accept the Leatherneck offer hinged primarily on Western's other recruits this year — Steeler teammate Brian Levin, Warriors/Tony Segobiano, Barry Grote and John Menendez.

"I've known all these guys a long time," Branding said. "Brian and I have been playing soccer together since we each six, and the other guys, well, I've gotten pretty close to them too."

It was just two months ago when Branding and the Warrior trio competed in McGuire Cup competition together. Their squad, the Mexican Honorary Commission's Mendoza Sporting Goods team, finished second in the Midwest Regional at the University of Indiana in Bloomington.

In all, eight universities, colleges and junior colleges sought to recruit Branding. The final two, he says, was Western Illinois and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Branding played soccer all four years at Granite City North. After one year as a javayee keeper, he played varsity for his remaining three years, the final two quite extensively.

One of the Steeler captains in 1982, he was also voted one of the Steeler's most valuable players. Too, he received the Bob Guelker Junior Olympic Soccer Camp Achievement Award.

Branding, 18, is best known for his ability on the soccer field, but also, he was involved in other Steeler functions.

A member of the Steeler German Club, he participated in advanced mixed chorus, the Madrigals and his school's Spring Musicals. He is also a member of the Society of Distinguished American High School Students, and listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students and America's Outstanding Names and Faces.

With those kind of soccer and extracurricular credentials, it's easy to understand why Western Coach John MacKenzie was enthused to sign Branding.

"Rich is a fine goalie and I think he'll be a good addition to our team," MacKenzie said. "I think he and our other Granite City recruits will be able to contribute to our team their first year."

"For years, we've recruited from the Missouri side of the (Mississippi) River, but now soccer in Granite City has come of age and I think that's obvious by the fact that we've recruited this athlete so heavily."

With already four Granite City athletes on the Western Illinois soccer team, the acquisition of Branding was a plus for MacKenzie and Western in more ways than one.

"Branding makes the fifth Granite City soccer recruit this season," MacKenzie said. "The fact that they know each other and each other's style is a big plus for us. It'll help immensely in early training."

MacKenzie's eagerness to recruit Granite City athletes was apparently evident to Branding as well.

"Coach MacKenzie just seemed so enthusiastic about soccer and my personally," Branding said. "I got the feeling that he really wanted me. Besides, at SIU I would have had to be a walk-on."

That walk-on status didn't excite Branding, so it was at that point that he turned to Western.

Western, as mentioned, has recruited five Granite City soccer players. But, they're not the only ones that make up the Macomb-Granite City connection. In addition to the five soccer players, John Linhart, a 1983 graduate of Granite City South, will be going to Western on a football scholarship. Two other athletes, Allen Frenkel and John Morris, both from Granite City North, will also attend Western this fall.

Branding, the son of Richard and June Branding of 2439 Lynch, is an undecided major but is leaning towards Human Services.

"I really enjoy working with and helping people," he said.

Sports of all Sorts

It's better not to mention it

By AL BARNES
For the Press-Record

There are a flock of "dos" and "don'ts" among the working stiff's covering athletic events from the press box.

The one most observed by sports reporters, both printed and electronic, is not to mention that a pitcher is working on a no-hitter. To say, or even to hint, that a no-hitter may be in the process of being posted, will cause strong men (and women, too) to blanch and drain the blood from their faces.

I've never covered a no-hitter racked up in the major leagues. I've been on hand for two no-hitters, one in an amateur game and the other down in Jackson, Tenn., in the Midwest Regional NCAA division II baseball championship final in 1972.

There were several funny aspects about that no-hitter. First off, the tournament at Jackson turned out to be, really, a battle between the North and the South, with the Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville the sole Yankee in the four-team meet.

Coach Roy E. Lee and his SIUE charges met the forces of Nicholls State U. in the finals of the tournament.

The day of the championship game broke under rainy clouds and the two teams took the field with a light drizzle falling.

On the mound for the Cougars was Ron Middleton of Olin, Ill., the ace righthander of that year's SIUE mound staff.

Nicholls State wasn't impressed and quickly jumped all over Middleton and at the end of four full innings were leading 4-0. During those four frames, however, Coach Lee and a large bevy of SIUE fans were loudly protesting that the game should be called off due to the muddy field, that it was dangerous to play under such bad conditions and other game-delaying tactics, all to no avail.

But, in their top half of the fifth inning, the Cougar bats began battering the ball and suddenly, SIUE had a 7-4 lead after 4½ innings.

Then, all of a sudden, it was too bad to play and the game was called off and rescheduled for the next day.

That night, a really dejected Ron Middleton dropped into my motel room. He was really down, no doubt of it. He'd just gotten two batters out in the opening inning.

On a sudden impulse, more to cheer him up than anything else, I suggested that he ask Coach Lee to start him the next day.

From his reaction, you could tell that he didn't think that he had a ghost of a chance of Lee starting him again. But, I persisted, saying, "Man, Ron, you just had a bad day and didn't work much, so I bet you that Lee would take a chance on you. And, besides, who else does he have?"

Of course, his teammates were not saying a word about it. It's a great memory of mine.

Sure enough, Lee gave the "OK" and all Ron did was go out and hurl the only NCAA division II no-hitter in history and the Cougars went wild at bat, as they not only white-washed Nicholls State but beat them 17-0.

Sports writers from the Memphis Commercial Appeal and the Jackson daily, from the fifth frame on, kept up a steady line of chatter like "have you ever seen a no-hitter?" and "I've never had the privilege of watching a no-hitter," etc., etc.

But, the funny thing about it was: immediately after the game, and in fact, to this date, Ron Middleton swears up and down that he didn't know that he had a no-hitter going.

Of course, his teammates were not saying a word about it. It's a great memory of mine.

According to Roger Smith, GCHS athletic director, boys who wish to compete athletically in the coming athletic season may get physicals on Aug. 15 at 5 p.m. in GCHS's Memorial Gymnasium. Girls who plan to compete this year may get physicals at 5 p.m., the following day, Aug. 16.

Cost of the physicals is $5. Smith said those boys not able to get their physicals on Aug. 15, may be examined on Aug. 16, after the girls' examinations.

The Illinois Board of Education requires all incoming high school freshmen to take a physical examination before entering high school. The IBE requires a more thorough examination for admittance into high school. Consequently, incoming freshmen should be examined by their family physician.

GCHS soccer practice is Wednesday

Practice begins on Wednesday, Aug. 17, for the Granite City High School soccer team, Warrior Coach Gene Baker has announced. Baker said athletes should come dressed, ready to practice. Athletes will meet in Memorial Gymnasium at 9 a.m. prior to the start of practice.

Wednesday is the first day of fall sports practice according to IHSA guidelines.

Quad-City soccer sign-ups

The Quad-Cities soccer association will hold an open registration for the fall season for boys and girls born 1978 and earlier.

Teams will be formed for all ages of boys and girls interested in playing. Registration will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 16, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Harold E. Brown Recreation Center, Pontoon and Franklin Avenues.

There will be a $15 registration fee and children will need a copy of their birth certificate.

Parents interested in registering their children, but cannot attend the above registration, should write their child's name, address, phone number and school attended on a plain sheet of paper, a copy of the birth certificate and a check or money order for $15, made payable to "Quad-Cities Soccer Association" and mail it to the Quad-Cities Soccer Association, P.O. Box 624, Granite City.

All applications should be received by Aug. 23, to insure your child to play in the fall season.

Any questions may be answered by calling the association at 877-1282.

Coolidge grid equipment pickup

Coolidge Junior High football coach Keith Parker has scheduled two days next week for athletes to pick up their equipment.

Griders may pick up their equipment in the Coolidge Jr. High gymnasium on either Thursday or Friday, Aug. 18 and 19, from 9:30 to 11 a.m. each day.

Parker reminded griders that physical examinations are needed before athletes can begin.

If athletes participated in seventh grade football last year, they do not need a physical this fall. Otherwise, Parker said, physicals are necessary before practice can begin.

GCHS grid gear issued next week

Those athletes wishing to participate on the Warrior football team this fall should pick up their equipment on either Monday or Tuesday, Coach Tom Wyrostek said.

Wyrostek has set aside this Monday, Aug. 15, from 3 to 5 p.m. as the time for varsity athletes to pick up equipment.

The following day, Aug. 16, sophomores should pick up their equipment from 10 a.m. to noon while incoming freshmen may get their equipment from 2 to 4 p.m. on the same day.

Equipment will be issued from the equipment room in Memorial Gymnasium.

Wyrostek reminded athletes that physicals for sophomores, juniors and seniors will be given on Monday, Aug. 15, beginning at 5 p.m.

1 Corinthians 2:5 . . . "That your faith should stand in the wisdom of God, but in the power of God."

It is wisdom to seek God. There is such a great peace that fills us when our spirit believes in Him, if only we could learn to be content with the knowledge of God and not try to fathom all His ways. His ways are far above our ways and past finding out.

It is tragic that in so many cases, an increase in knowledge causes men to forsake God and not draw nigh to Him.

Paul asks that our faith stand in the power of God and not in the wisdom of men.

"A wise man takes good advice."

Study hazardous pool on SIUE land

Noting that a 22-year-old Des Peres, Mo., man died Sunday when he apparently jumped from a cliff into the Blue Pool on the former Olin estate north of Alton, now owned by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the university is studying ways of reducing such hazards in the future.

James D. Crowder III, witnesses said, jumped from a cliff 150 feet above the water at 11:06 a.m. His body was recovered at 12:05 p.m. by the Alton Emergency Rescue Squad and he was pronounced dead by Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke.

The Blue Pool is an abandoned limestone quarry which if filled with water ranges as deep as 30 feet. The restricted area is closed to the public and a notice to that effect is posted on fencing which surrounds the area. Police said several persons apparently entered the area illegally to swim in the pool Sunday. It has been drained several times but refills naturally. Numerous drownings have occurred there over the years.

Counselor attends rape crisis annual convention

"One Struggle ... Many Fronts" was the theme of the fifth annual conference of the National Coalition Against Sexual Assault (NCASA) in Minneapolis, Minn., recently.

Mary Free of Granite, a counselor at the Rape and Sexual Abuse Center, was among the approximately 500 people representing more than 30 states who convened for workshops and in-depth discussions of the many ways in which people in the rape crisis field contribute to the anti-rape movement. Mrs. Free participated in sessions that addressed fear, anger, offenders, incest and therapy skills.

Artist and writer Beverly Smith, spoke on "Violence: The Veiling of the Human Spirit," and "Ms." magazine founder Gloria Steinem, spoke Saturday evening on "Beyond the Bandaid."

"The Twin Cities" Illusion Theater staged a special production of "No Easy Answers," a play which examines the exploitative and abusive use of sex in the context of teenagers' sexual and social development.

NCASA was formed in 1978 to ensure the continued provision of services to sexual assault victims through public education and information sharing. NCASA members represent 47 states and serve the victims of all types of sexual abuse including rape, acquaintance rape, child sexual abuse and incest.

"It was exciting to meet people from all over the country who also are concerned about the problems of sexual violence in our society."

ty," said Mrs. Free. She added, "I brought back many ideas to enhance services in our area." The Rape and Sexual Abuse Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville provides hospital and police advocacy counseling and emotional support.

Eagles Aerie 1126 initiates members

Eagles Aerie 1126 held an initiation ceremony for new members, Daniel F. Krause, Gary L. Hoerle, Mike J. Stephens and Michael R. Wiejaczka, last week, at the Eagles Hall located at 25th Street and Madison Avenue.

Members of the initiation team were Randy Odom, Bob Stanton, Charles Chamberlain, Bill Hemken and Harold R. Love.

President Randy Odom opened the meeting followed by reports given by John Aubuchon, secretary, and Don Gray, treasurer. A card was read from the state chairman of the Art Lirman Cancer Fund thanking the Aerie for its donation and a letter from the state chairman of the Golden Eagle Fund noting the donation given at the state convention in Herrin, Ill., by the local group.

Harold Love, sick and visiting chairman, announced Frank "Tom" Konopka is still on the sick list and Robert Stanton noted Jim Lipchik is undergoing tests at a hospital.

The president then appointed James Smith as chairman of the new building committee and Don Horn gave his report on the 7th annual Mr. and Mrs. Eagle's bowling tournament. The contest is set for Aug. 6 through Oct. 15, on each weekend at Bowland Lanes, Granite City, with the exception of Labor Day weekend. He also announced that contracts have been signed to have a band play each Saturday night, during the tournament, at the Eagles home.

President Odom closed the session followed by Harold Love, Bob Stanton and Charles Chamberlain performing the closing ritual.

Housing survey is underway

The 1983 survey of housing in the United States began in this area this week.

The Census Bureau conducts the survey for the Department of Housing and Urban Development to obtain current information on housing, an important indicator of the nation's economic well-being.

Across the country, the bureau has selected a sample of 77,000 housing units from the national stock of 90 million. It updates the sample each year to include new construction, other additions and losses from the inventory.

The survey makes possible year-to-year comparisons of the number and types of housing as well as changes in the total housing stock and the cost of housing, services, and utilities. It also provides data on characteristics of structures and their occupants.

Census Bureau representatives will interview households for about five months and will send each household an announcement beforehand. Owners, rental agents, or neighbors will be asked to provide information on unoccupied units.

The bureau will preview results late in 1984, including data for the nation, regions, urban and rural areas, combined metropolitan areas (both inside and outside central cities) and nonmetropolitan areas.

COLLINSVILLE MAN CHARGED WITH DUI

Bradley C. Singleton, 19, of Collinsville was arrested in the 3500 block of Johnson Road, Monday and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Singleton's pickup truck was halted after a passing motorist reported an erratic driver and an officer followed the vehicle, which allegedly was swerving back and forth, nearly striking the curb.

At police headquarters, Singleton reportedly became unruly and was uncooperative, refusing to answer questions. He also declined to take a breathalyzer test, reports said.

Half who reside here work here

Half of Granite City's residents work in Granite City, a relatively high proportion in this commuting area.

This point and other information on employment patterns in the local metropolitan area have been developed by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council from information obtained in the 1980 census. Among the findings were that:

—Over 38 percent of the workers residing in the metropolitan area in 1980 lived and worked in the same county.

—These included 113,431 of the 169,408 workers living in the City of St. Louis in 1980, about two out of every three, also worked in the city. By contrast, less than 32 percent of the workers living in Jefferson County also worked in Jefferson County.

—Nearly 31 percent of the workers in the metropolitan area worked in St. Louis in 1980. The city also remains an important employment center for workers living in the area.

During March 1980, 30,367 workers, or about 14 percent of all workers living in the Illinois portion of the metropolitan area, worked in the City of St. Louis.

The number of Madison County residents working in St. Louis increased only slightly, from 11,146 in 1970 to 12,800 in 1980, while the 16,028 St. Clair County residents who worked in St. Louis in 1980 was a decrease from 11,111 in 1970.

The number of St. Louis County residents working in the city was virtually unchanged during the past decade — 137,902, or 36.6 percent, of all St. Louis County workers in 1970 and 137,569, or 29.9 percent, of all county workers in 1980.

The number of St. Louis County residents who both lived and worked in St. Louis County increased by 69,068, or by 33.7 percent, during the 1970s.

The number of St. Charles County workers who both lived and worked in St. Charles County nearly doubled during the decade, from 14,858 to 26,858. Only about one in nine St. Charles County residents who were employed in 1980 worked in St. Louis.

A total of 209,909 workers, about 27.2 percent of the region's workforce, traveled outside their county of residence to work in 1980, ranging from a low of 21.6 percent among workers living in the City of St. Louis to a high of 59.8 percent among workers living in Jefferson County.

—While many workers commuted across county and state lines to work in 1980, there were 22 incorporated places of 2,500 or more in the metropolitan area where more than one of every three employed residents lived and worked in the same municipality.

These included Washington at 67.4 percent; St. Louis City at 67.9 percent; Alton at 50.9 percent; Granite City at 48.9 percent; Belleville at 45.2 percent; St. Charles at 40.5 percent; Edwardsville at 40.4 percent; East St. Louis at 37.8 percent; East Alton at 34.4 percent; and Clayton at 34.3 percent.

—The average travel time to work for those living in the metropolitan area in 1980 was 23 minutes.

About 62 percent of the workers drove to work alone, 21 percent car or van-pooled, six percent used public transit, and three percent walked to work. These figures are similar to national averages.

—And 82,782 of the 991,191 workers in the region, about 8.4 percent, did not report their place of work, or the actual work place location could not be determined by the Census Bureau.

School aid amendments

Governor James R. Thompson has signed legislation to help school districts in instances where their equalized assessed valuation has been adversely affected by reclassification of personal property or by a recent farmland assessment law.

"These measures will help school districts which have suffered a drop in their tax base because of changes in state law," the governor said.

The first, House Bill 609, amends the school aid formula to remove the 35 percent limit on the increase a district may claim over its prior year's state aid. The effect of this is to redistribute dollars to more than two dozen districts within the total general state aid appropriation level of $3.43 billion.

House Bill 818 states that for any school district whose 1982 valuation is 80 percent or less of the 1981 total, 1983-84 state aid shall be computed using the 1982 valuation.

Both laws, which are effective for one year, are retroactive to July 1, 1983.

Other staff members include Kurt Isbrecht and his wife, Barb. He will be the assistant photographer and she will be the receptionist and wedding consultant.

The studio will be open Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Friday until 9 p.m. Evening hours will be available by appointment.

GC woman to represent SIUE at national convention

Fund-raising events to help pay travel expenses for the trip to New York have been planned and include a car wash at Gilcho's Gas, Nanticoke and Fehling roads, Sunday, Aug. 14. The car wash will be from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. at a cost of $2 per car.

Miss Tindall is a senior at SIUE, majoring in speech communication with a specialization in public relations. She maintains a perfect 3.0 grade point average.

Traffic safety exhibit set for St. Clair-Square

Secretary of State Jim Edgar, has announced that the dangers of drunk driving and the importance of using seat belts are explained in a traffic safety exhibit his office will sponsor in center court at St. Clair-Square Fairview Heights this weekend.

"Drivers under the influence of alcohol or drugs cause traffic accidents that are killing 70 persons a day in our nation," Edgar said. "In many of these cases, the accident would not have happened if there hadn't been a drunk driver, and it might not have become a tragedy if everyone had had his or her seat belt on."

Included in the traffic safety exhibit is a seat belt convicer. The convicer is a trailer with a sliding automobile seat. When a passenger is safely belted in to the convicer seat, it is raised to the top of an incline, and then released to simulate a low-mileage accident and demonstrate the effectiveness of seat belts. A smaller version of the convicer will be on display to demonstrate the effectiveness of child restraint devices.

The exhibit will include films and brochures on a number of traffic safety issues, and an officer from the secretary of state's Department of Police will be present to answer questions. "Public education is one of our most important tools in promoting traffic safety in Illinois and saving lives on our streets and highways," Edgar said. "I hope many drivers will have the opportunity to visit this timely and educational exhibit."

ALCOHOL-RELATED CHARGES ALLEGED

After receiving a report of a vehicle parked in the middle of the road in the middle block of Benton St., facing the wrong way, early this week, said the driver attempted to back the auto on to the curb when they approached.

Tommy W. McCormick, 24, of 2029 Russell St., was charged with driving while his license was suspended and illegal transportation of alcohol when several open beer cans allegedly were found in the car.

Two passengers, Penny Lea Osterander, 23, of the 2000 block of Russell Street, and Gary W. Walker, 28, of Louisiana, Mo., were charged with illegal possession of alcohol. Miss Osterander was released after posting a $32 cash bond.

WARRANT ARREST
Dorothy Ann Batey, 44, of 2127 Lincoln Ave., was arrested there last week on a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of permitting an unauthorized person to drive.

'Rap groups' offered area Vietnam veterans

VOICES, Inc. (Veterans Outreach Investment Counseling and Educational Services), a Vietnam veterans outreach group based in Edwardsville, has announced the formation of informal "rap groups" for Vietnam veterans.

According to Charles Pomeroy, director of administration, the "rap group" concept provides a forum for the veterans to share experiences and discuss problems which have carried over to the present.

This will be conducted in an informal setting, stated Darrel Seim, counseling coordinator for VOICES. Seim went on to say the rap group is an excellent means for the Vietnam vets to discuss that they are not alone in dealing with their problems.

Individuals who already have overcome problems from their Vietnam experience also are encouraged to join because they may be able to help a fellow vet. If friends or relatives know of a veteran experiencing problems they are being encouraged to seek information.

Pomeroy also stated that to be eligible the veteran must have a copy of his DD214, served in Southeast Asia, or served during the Vietnam Era (Aug. 8, 1964, to May 7, 1975). Also, all services are free of charge to the veterans and their dependents.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Pomeroy or Seim at 1-602-4554 or by writing to VOICES, Post Office Box 285, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025.

Cheryl Crawford
Crawford Agency

"We call our health insurance, Shelter Comprehensive Health Insurance. And for a lot of good reasons. For example, we pay maximum benefits up to $100,000 to keep pace with today's rising medical costs. That includes doctor visits, prescriptions, unlimited expenses for a semi-private hospital room, and any surgical equipment or in-

call coverage."
